

Leadership residentials mark another successful year

Building on the outstanding feedback from last year's residential, the Senior and Middle Leadership Programme participants came together at Warwick University for a hugely constructive week of workshops and peer engagement. Taking place in May, the event drew over 70 Nord Anglia staff together, from 24 schools in the beautiful setting of this renowned university city.

The 30 SLP and 41 MLP attendees accessed a wide variety of seminars and workshops, delivered by a team of specialists from within the Nord Anglia family as well as some external speakers. The delegates covered some topics unique to international schools, but also discussed challenges facing education professionals everywhere, including the future of a curriculum without assessment levels.

Thought-provoking public speakers included neuroscientist Dr Tom Robson and Miles Hilton-Barber, the adventurer and climber who, despite going blind early in life, has never stopped taking on challenges many of us would fear to try.

The gala dinner on Thursday evening commenced with a poignant performance by the Warwickshire Boys Choir, after which Andrew Fitzmaurice addressed the attendees on the exciting times ahead for Nord Anglia, as we continue to grow our family of schools further through the Leadership Programmes.

How to sign up

Candidates must be nominated by their Principal or SLT and the deadline for applications is 30th October.

"The roundedness of the whole programme covered all elements of the role from the practical info based side of things to the more ethereal emotional intelligence parts of managing our role."

---

"One of the main benefits has been opening my mind to the differences of leading in an international setting."

---

"The opportunity to work in an open, honest, reflective and trusting environment with people from outside of my school was exceptionally valuable."
